Job Descriptions :

Secretary General (SG)

The Blurb: The "CEO" of the conference. The SG provides the overarching vision, leads the Secretariat, and serves as the final authority on all academic and administrative decisions.

- Sets the conference theme and selects committee topics.
- Oversees all departments and ensures deadlines are met.
- Serves as the public face of the conference for keynote speakers and sponsors.
- Creates or updates the conference Rules of Procedure.

Deputy Secretary General (DSG)

The Blurb: The "COO" who turns the SG's vision into reality. The DSG focuses on internal management, ensuring that different departments are communicating and staying on track.

- Monitors the progress of all Under-Secretaries and Heads of Departments.
- Manages internal communications and resolves staff conflicts.
- Steps in for the SG when they are unavailable.
- Oversees the production of the conference handbook and academic materials.

Parliamentarian

The Blurb: The guardian of the Rules of Procedure (RoP). They ensure the academic integrity of the debates and train the dais (Chairs) to handle complex procedural motions.

- Conducts training sessions for Chairs and Co-Chairs.
- Acts as the final arbiter on procedural disputes during committee sessions.
- Reviews and approves all study guides and background guides.

Head of Logistics & Finance

The Blurb: The "Engine Room" of the conference. This role balances the books while ensuring the physical event exists—from the rooms you sit in to the food you eat.

- Develops and manages the master budget.
- Secures the venue and manages room assignments for committees.
- Coordinates catering, stationery, and transport logistics.
- Approves all departmental expenditures.

Deputy Head of Logistics

The Blurb: The boots-on-the-ground coordinator. They focus on the physical setup and the flow of people during the event days.

- Manages the "Runner" team during the conference.
- Oversees the setup of placards, water, and tech in committee rooms.
- Coordinates the registration desk and check-in flow.

Deputy Head of Finance

The Blurb: The treasurer. They keep the ledger clean and ensure that every cent is accounted for, from delegate fees to sponsorship checks.

- Tracks delegate payments and issues invoices/receipts.
- Manages the procurement of merchandise (hoodies, pens, etc.).
- Assists the Head of PR in tracking sponsorship deliverables.

Delegate Affairs

The Blurb: The primary point of contact for all participants. If a delegate has a question, a problem, or an allergy, Delegate Affairs handles it.

- Manages the registration portal and country assignments.
- Handles all correspondence with faculty advisors and independent delegates.
- Coordinates "Socials" (delegate dances or dinners).
- Manages visa support letters and accommodation queries.

Head of Public Relations & Advertising

The Blurb: The "Megaphone" of the conference. They are responsible for the conference's brand, outreach, and attracting the maximum number of quality delegates.

- Develops the marketing strategy and recruitment campaigns.
- Secures corporate sponsorships and partnerships.
- Manages external relations with other MUN circuits and schools.
- Drafts official press releases and newsletters.

Deputy Head of Public Relations & Advertising

The Blurb: The implementation specialist. They take the marketing strategy and execute it across all platforms.

- Directly reaches out to schools and universities for delegations.
- Manages the "Brand Ambassadors" program.
- Coordinates with the Media team to ensure ads are posted on schedule.

Head of Media

The Blurb: The "Storyteller." They capture the energy of the conference through visuals and manage the digital presence of the event.

- Oversees the photography and videography teams during the event.
- Manages the conference website and social media accounts (Instagram, TikTok, etc.).
- Produces the "Opening Ceremony" and "After-movie" videos.
- Designs most graphic assets (logos, posters, and digital banners).

- [ ] Invite an MDCU representative to accept the donation pledge.

Wycombe Abbey Email

Dear Ms. Angel,

I am writing to you on behalf of the SEAMUN I Secretariat, and as an active grade 11/year 12 learner at VERSO. Since joining VERSO's Upper Loop and the MUN community within Thailand, I have dreamt of organizing and hosting my own conference with a unique design and clear standards to combat the issues I have faced at previous conferences. This conference was what I'd hoped to spend my senior year preparing. Although I will regrettably not get the opportunity to do so, and will narrowly miss out on graduating from VERSO, I am still determined to carry out my plan independently, applying the knowledge and skills I've gained from my time at the school, in pursuit of this worthwhile initiative.

As Wycombe Abbey takes hold of the campus, I have called my second home for the past several years, I have a new found aspiration to remain connected with the school by hosting the inaugural SEAMUN I 2027 at the Wycombe Abbey Bangkok Campus on the weekend of 16-17 January 2027.

If you aren't already familiar with MUN, it is a simulation of the United Nations and different legislative bodies that address issues across the globe and provide unique solutions that suggest lasting change. MUN consists of moderated and unmoderated debate during which stances are heard, and solutions are developed before being vetted by the secretariat, and voted upon by the committee.

As a school new to the international school market in Bangkok, we recognise your need for connection within the student community, and opportunities to raise the school's profile further. We intend to provide such support by welcoming over 350 middle and high school students from across South East Asia onto campus to enjoy two ground-breaking days of debate.

My vision is to have an unbiased and welcoming atmosphere that fosters diplomatic debate and respectful criticisms of the current world. I also want to emphasize sustainability and healthcare through this conference and thus, I have catered almost all topics towards healthcare and am committed to donating all profits to the Thai Red Cross Society. To this effect, we are in need of support regarding a hosting venue with a waived or reduced fee.

As members of the Thailand MUN community, our Secretariat believes several aspects of conferences must change. Firstly, the sustainability of MUN conferences must be improved; thus, SEAMUN I commits to using a digital note-passing system to bypass the need for individual note pads. Secondly, conferences require adult oversight; we intend to welcome at least 10 external advisors (from participating schools) and 10 SEAMUN advisors to help monitor debate and ensure that enjoyment and diplomacy are prioritized. Thirdly, local support is currently lacking; we aim to provide two solutions to address the accessibility and impact of MUN conferences in Thailand:

1. Providing sponsorships (coverage of conference fees) for low-middle income individuals in Thailand who wish to attend,

2. Providing a generous donation of at least 50,000 THB to the Thai Red Cross Society to directly support Thai healthcare.

We believe the future Wycombe Abbey campus would be a perfect fit due to the abundance of space and whiteboards available for ideation and collaboration. We aim to utilise at least one building for committee rooms, and the Arena for the opening and closing ceremonies. We will also require the school's cafeteria and catering services during lunch for dining purposes. We are confident that this collaboration will benefit us both, and thus we kindly request a waived venue fee or a reduced rate of no larger than 50,000 to ensure our conference can become a reality and still provide a significant donation for the Thai Red Cross Society.

SEAMUN would welcome the chance to utilise the Wycombe Abbey logo for marketing purposes and is eager to announce the institution as the official founding education partner of the conference. Speeches by WASBKK management are encouraged at the beginning and/or end of the conference, and our media team will curate a high-quality recap video and venue overview for your use.

Please find the project brief attached. We are available to answer any questions via email or, are open to planning an online meeting to discuss this project further.

Thank you in advance for considering our proposal. We look forward to hearing from you and discussing this exciting initiative with you further.

Subject: Partnership Proposal: SEAMUN I 2027 x D-PREP | An Independent Youth Summit for the Thai Red Cross

Dear Admissions,
Please forward this email to Ms. Lady Didyasarin Tavedikul and Dr. David Fitzgerald.

Dear Ms. Lady Didyasarin Tavedikul and Dr. David Fitzgerald,

On behalf of the SEAMUN Secretariat, I am writing to propose a host-venue partnership. My name is Jules Kitto-Astrop, and I am the Secretary General of SEAMUN I 2027, I currently attend VERSO International School in Grade 11. I am proud to introduce Thailand's first 100% paperless, digital-first and independent Model United Nations conference.

If you aren't already familiar, Model United Nations is a simulation of the UN where students from across grades, campuses, schools, cities, and even countries gather to discuss real-world issues in specialized committees while actively seeking a solution that suits most if not all needs of the international body and of each nation.

This initiative started as an idea for my senior project at my current school (VERSO International School). However, following the recent acquisition of my school by Wycombe Abbey, the project is no longer able to be carried out under the formal curriculum as I'd hoped. Rather than abandoning this dream of mine, I have pivoted to making SEAMUN I into an independent youth summit. We believe that this transition reflects the resilience and entrepreneurial spirit that D-PREP seeks to bring out in it's own students.

Why D-PREP? We are seeking a host partner that amplifies our commitment to innovation. As a school focused on Design Thinking, D-PREP is one of the few venues in Bangkok that suit our needs and possess the logistical capacity to host a large scale event like ours.

Our Connection to Your Community: We are already integrated to the D-PREP family through Don, an incoming Grade 12 student for the 2026-2027 academic year. Don is a close classmate of mine and will be visiting the campus in a few weeks to discuss the his future at D-PREP and how we can best support the D-PREP community in it's growth across not only Bangkok but the whole of Southeast Asia.

The Partnership Opportunity: We are aiming to host 370 delegates, 33 chairs, and 20 advisors from across Southeast Asia. As a non-profit, independent initiative, 100% of our profits are donated to the Thai Red Cross Society (TRCS).

To ensure this remains a high-impact charitable event, we have a strictly allocated facilities and maintenance budget of 50,000 THB. In exchange for hosting our 22-room requirement, we offer D-PREP:

- Direct Admissions Exposure: Bringing 350+ high-potential students and their families from top-tier peer schools onto your campus.
- Global Branding: D-PREP will be featured as our "Official Innovation & Venue Partner" in all digital marketing, our digital handbooks, our InterMUN platform, and certificates.
- Professional Supervision: We guarantee a ratio of one adult advisor in every room at all times to uphold D-PREP's high safeguarding standards.

Given that our international delegates must finalize flight and visa logistics immediately, we are eager to confirm our venue partner. We look forward to hearing your thoughts on how we can collaborate to make SEAMUN I a landmark event at D-PREP.

Please find our project proposal document attached to this email. Please don't hesitate to contact us for any questions or concerns.

Kind regards,

Activities

Committee Activities/Icebreakers :

The "Line of Justice": Designate one side of the room as "Strongly Agree" and the other as "Strongly Disagree." Read out nuanced statements (e.g., "Retribution is more important than rehabilitation"). Delegates must move to their position and briefly defend it. This highlights the ideological divides they'll face in debate. (ANY)

Intelligence Briefing (Telephone): Give a complex "Security Update" to the first delegate. They must whisper it down the line. Seeing how a message about "lethal military weapons" becomes "legal laundry muffins" by the end of the line highlights the need for "Standardized Best Practices." (Interpol, DISEC, UNODC)

The Triage/UBI Simulation: Give the committee a hypothetical "Global Budget" (represented by 20 paperclips or scraps of paper). Present them with three crises: a pandemic, a mental health psychedelic research grant, and a UBI pilot. They have 5 minutes to reach a consensus on the split. If they don't, "the economy crashes" and everyone loses. (ECOSOC, UNHRC, WHO)

The Scandalous Summary: Pick two delegates to act out a 30-second "argument" about a trivial topic (e.g., Is a hotdog a sandwich?). The Press Corps has 2 minutes to write a "breaking news" headline that is both accurate and sensationalist. (ANY + Press)

Interview Hot Seat: One delegate is a "controversial world leader." The Press Corps has to rapid-fire questions to catch them in a contradiction regarding "reporting on public affairs." (ANY + Press)

Line of Justice

The Line of Justice

Objective: To visualize ideological divides and practice "Rebuttal Diplomacy."

- Setup: Clear a path from one side of the room to the other.
- The Rules:
    1. The Chair reads a "Grey Area" statement (e.g., "The death penalty is justifiable if it acts as a 100% effective deterrent" or "Prisoners should lose all voting rights indefinitely").
    2. Delegates move to a physical spot on the line. The far right is Strongly Agree, the far left is Strongly Disagree, and the center is Undecided/Neutral.
    3. The Chair picks one person from each extreme and one from the middle to give a 30-second "Defense of Position."
    4. The Shift: After the defenses, the Chair asks: "Does anyone wish to move?" If a delegate moves based on another's argument, that speaker gets "Diplomacy Points."
- Chair's Tip: Use this to identify which delegates will naturally lead the opposing blocs during the actual debate.

Intelligence Briefing

Intelligence Briefing (Telephone)

Objective: To demonstrate how "Information Logistics" break down during crises.

- Setup: Delegates sit in their standard committee formation.
- The Rules:
    1. The Chair whispers a complex, 3-sentence "Security Brief" to the first delegate (e.g., "The shipment of 50 surface-to-air missiles was intercepted at 0400 hours near the Suez Canal by a non-state actor wearing blue fatigues").
    2. Delegates must whisper the message to their neighbor only once. No repeating.
    3. The last delegate must stand up and announce the "Intelligence" to the committee.
    4. The Post-Mortem: The Chair reveals the original text. The committee must identify exactly where the "Intelligence Gap" occurred.
- Chair's Tip: This is a great way to transition into a session about "Standardizing Protocols."

Triage/UBI

The Triage Simulation

Objective: To model "Resource Reallocation" and the ethics of "Psychedelic vs. Traditional" medicine.

- Setup: Give each country "10 Resource Units" (represented by tally marks on a piece of paper).
- The Rules:
    1. The Chair presents three "Crisis Cards":
        - Crisis A: A new pandemic outbreak (Requires 5 units to stop).
        - Crisis B: A mental health crisis requiring Psychedelic Research (Requires 3 units to fund).
        - Crisis C: Extreme poverty requiring a UBI pilot (Requires 4 units to start).
    2. Delegates have a 10-minute "Unmoderated Caucus" to pool their resources.
    3. The Catch: If they fund the pandemic but ignore the UBI, the "poverty index" rises, and in the next round, the pandemic costs 8 units instead of 5.
- Why it works: It teaches delegates that in ECOSOC and WHO, every "reallocation of military expenditure" has a long-term consequence.

Scandalous Summary

The Scandalous Summary

Objective: To practice "Reporting on Public Affairs" under time pressure and bias.

- Setup: The Press Corps observes a 2-minute "Mock Debate" between two Chairs or two experienced delegates on a ridiculous topic (e.g., "Should we ban gravity?").
- The Rules:
    1. The Press Corps cannot speak during the debate; they only take notes.
    2. Immediately after, they have 3 minutes to write:
        - A Headline: Must be under 10 words.
        - The "Lead": A one-sentence summary that frames one side as a hero and the other as a villain.
    3. The Press Corps reads their headlines aloud. The committee votes on which headline is the most "Ethically Balanced" and which is the most "Sensationalist."
- Why it works: It forces them to confront the "Circumstances in Which Journalists Should Report" and how framing changes a story.

Interview Hot Seat

Interview Hot Seat

Objective: To practice "Accountability Reporting."

- Setup: One "World Leader" (usually a Chair or a very confident delegate) sits at the front. The Press Corps surrounds them.
- The Rules:
    1. The Leader is given a "Secret Scandal" (e.g., "You diverted military funds to build a gold statue of your cat").
    2. The Press Corps has 5 minutes to ask "Yes/No" or "Open-Ended" questions to uncover the scandal.
    3. The Catch: The Leader can deflect, pivot, or "No Comment," but they cannot lie directly.
    4. The Deadline: After 5 minutes, each journalist must submit one "Tweet" (max 280 characters) summarizing the scandal. The Leader picks the "least damaging" one to win.
- Chair's Tip: Great for testing how journalists "Report on Public Affairs" without getting sued for libel.

Email Guide:

To ensure professional communication and centralized document tracking, all SEAMUN I Chairs must use their designated @seamun.com accounts. These accounts are powered by Hostinger, but will still allow you to use the familiar Gmail interface.

---

1. Accessing the Web Portal (Gmail)

The most reliable way to manage your committee email is through the official Gmail portal.

1. Go to: mail.google.com
2. Add Account: Select Other (IMAP)
3. Follow the Next Section

2. Connecting to External Apps (Server Settings)

When adding your SEAMUN account to an external app, use the following manual configuration settings:

Setting	Technical Detail
Incoming Server (IMAP)	imap.hostinger.com
Port / Encryption	993 / SSL/TLS
Outgoing Server (SMTP)	smtp.hostinger.com
Port / Encryption	465 (SSL) or 587 (TLS)
Username	Your full email (e.g., chairs@fwc.seamun.com)

Suggestions

1) For international inclusion, one respondent suggested creating a delegates guide and MUN dictionary for ESL speakers.
2) Streamlining Conference Procedures: Clear and smooth procedures can be achieved by giving a clear outline of the Rules of Procedure (ROP) to chairs, creating a detailed schedule with buffer times, and ensuring that room planning is clean with clear signs around the venue. Additionally, some suggested using a digital note-passing system (either through a button to auto-translate or by writing a message and sending it to pages) or a website where delegates can lobby motions and resolutions to help chairs organize submissions.
3)
