- Perceives reckless behaviour by ICE
    - Arrests of US citizens & children
- Calls for the end of non-national security threat arrests
- Americans fear that their citizenships aren't enough to keep them out of jail – especially in Latino and Native American communities
- "Immigration doesn't make us weaker as a country, it makes us stronger"* - Elizabeth Warren
- From Elizabeth's 2020 Presidential Campaign :
    - • Protect our Dreamers and extend deferred action protections to their families and their communities, and fight for a fair and achievable pathway to citizenship for the 11 million undocumented individuals currently living and working in the United States.
    - • Decriminalize migration and create accountability for the abuses perpetrated during the Trump era against immigrants and people seeking asylum;
    - • Separate law enforcement from immigration enforcement and eliminate private detention facilities that are profiting off of cruelty;
    - • Expand legal immigration, reduce the family reunification backlog to reunite millions of families, and make it easier for those eligible for citizenship to naturalize; and also
    - • End unnecessary detention by refocusing our enforcement on serious criminal activity;
    - • Affirm asylum protections for the most vulnerable and raise the refugee cap;
    - • Reject exclusionary policies based on race, religion, and nationality, including by reversing Trump's bigoted Muslim Ban on the very first day;
    - • Restoring and increasing aid to the Northern Triangle countries while rallying the international community to match those funds; and
    - • Informing and protecting those seeking refuge to prevent vulnerable people from being exploited and harmed.

Issues in the immigration and nationality act

- Asylum & border control → ill equipped to handle the volume of asylum seekers
- Due process & legal protections → undermining due process → breaks trust in the system
- Forms → complex web that is almost impossible to navigate
- Unauthorized entry forces people into the criminal justice system

DACA (deferred action for childhood arrivals)

- Allows young individuals who grew up in the US to request temporary protection from deportation and to have the ability to work
- This policy has helped more than 834,000 people
- Currently : DACA is unable to provide work permits or drivers licenses – only protection from deportation → this leads to homelessness and/or poverty → leads to desperation → leads to crime

TPS (temporary protected status)

- Temporary immigration status provided to citizens of specific countries facing ongoing armed conflict, environmental disasters, or extraordinary and temporary conditions
- Provides a work permit and protection from deportation to foreign nationals in the US at the time of the decision.
- Can be made for 6, 12, or 18 months at a time
- Currently protects :
    - Afghanistan
    - Burma
    - Cameroon
    - El salvador
    - Ethiopia
    - Haiti
    - Honduras
    - Lebanon
    - Nepal
    - Nicaragua
    - Somalia
    - South Sudan
    - Sudan
    - Syria
    - Ukraine
    - Venezuela
    - Yemen

Trump has exploited the Alien Enemies Act resulting in the complete disregard for due process. The Alien Enemies Act was made to protect America from unnecessary conflict byway of immediate deportation of foreign/enemy citizens.

Opening Speech

Honorable Chairs and Fellow Delegates, I, amongst many others in this room, both democrats and republicans, remain appalled at the state of deportation practices in this country. The current administration has exploited protections, neglected the vulnerable, abused authority and yet we see no improvement in immigration or deportation practices. I believe that comprehensive and humanitarian reform where vulnerable groups along with children and families are prioritised is our only option. We must refocus our national law enforcement on serious crime, create realistic standards and regulations for immigration, and develop new methods of screening to ensure maximum efficiency. Immigration doesn't make us weaker as a country, it makes us stronger.

- Humanitarian
- Comprehensive reform

Important considerations :

- Upholding national sovereignty
- Protecting internationally recognized human rights
- Moving past legislative griplock & political polarization
- Alternatives to mass deportation → comprehensive reform
- Ensure accountability, transparency, and oversight
- Long term solutions for the integration of certain groups of immigrants
- Economic Interests
- Previous outcomes of policies
- Promote a just and sustainable immigration system

- Increase the number of asylum seekers allowed
- Decriminalise migration → encourage and assist undocumented immigrants to apply for asylum
- Centralise forms to ensure a comprehensive way of obtaining citizenship
- Reconsider nations eligible for TPS
- Prioritize children and families → forms must include these considerations
- AI background checks (immediate denial if there's records of criminal activity) → manual checks → obtaining citizenship
- Provide minimal but sustainable help upon entry to the US → in order to keep immigrants out of the criminal justice system
- Separating law enforcement from immigration enforcement → refocus law enforcement on serious criminal activity

- New Jersey
- Vermont

- Ted Cruz : “A nation without borders is not a nation” → untrue : eg. european nations
- Southern border is not the issue
    - Borders are not the issue
    - The means of deportation and immigration are

- Not rewarding, simply not punishing
- Immigration contributes to our economy
- Order and security is necessary
- How do we assess the dangers of people?
    - Background checks
        - Use of AI
    - Criminal record → immediate rejection

- Deb Fischer (NE)
    - Agree

- Focus on the reform of procedures
    - Easier more straightforward application processes
- Screening
    - AI screening
        - Criminal record → immediate rejection
        - Risk of terrorism involvement → rejection
        - Families & Children → prioritized
        - Risk of resource consumption → disabilities → possible rejection depending on level of support needs
- Decriminalising immigration

CRISIS 1 - Riots and Protests

- Are the protestors being persecuted for protesting
    - No, arrests due to public disruption or public property damage

- Are people being deported for protesting?
    - Yes

Asylum seekers

Asylum seekers deserve as much respect as anyone else, if not more. They are abandoning everything they know to search for something better, and are often ostracised and ridiculed. We need to make the process of seeking asylum more comprehensive and straightforward, we need an efficient and effective way of moving forward and allowing our country to grow through the acceptance and integration of immigrants and asylum seekers. Although it would be nice to pretend all applicants are genuine, we need better screening that uses AI to immediately reject certain asylum seekers (for example those with a criminal record).

Press release

The polarization we face is a common obstacle we must deal with when addressing the topic of immigration and deportation. I believe that maintaining order is of utmost priority, whilst allowing for free expression of opinion. We need to spread awareness of the prospective changes that improve the state of immigration and deportation in America. We must create spaces for people to express their frustration in a safe and non-destructive manner. Regardless of the opinions on immigration and deportation, we can all agree the current state of affairs is unsustainable and poses a serious threat to our nation.

Closing the borders (temporarily)

Border control has been and continues to be increasingly problematic however the solution is not to close borders completely but rather educate law enforcement on proper procedures and threat detection. I disagree with the closure of borders however am eager to reduce traffic of immigrants and asylum seekers temporarily as we are in a time of crisis. We must assess the extent of the current situation and act accordingly not dramatically. I believe that the closure of the southern border and the sheer amount of applicants would cause an extreme backlog of applications to be screened and would postpone the progress of implementing changes to our immigration and deportation systems.

The Bill

- Humane detention centers → funding directed to the quality of living in detention centers
- Decriminalise migration → encourage and assist undocumented immigrants to apply for asylum
- Centralise forms to ensure a comprehensive way of obtaining citizenship
- Reconsider nations eligible for TPS
- Prioritize children and families → forms must include these considerations
- AI background checks (immediate denial if there’s records of criminal activity) → manual checks → obtaining citizenship

- Provide minimal but sustainable help upon entry to the US → in order to keep immigrants out of the criminal justice system
- Separating law enforcement from immigration enforcement → refocus law enforcement on serious criminal activity
- Education for border control and law enforcement for accurate threat detection

This is why the bigger beneficial bill is our only option to maintain order, create sustainable reform and calm our citizens. It encourages the use of AI in screening procedures and humanitarian renovation to ensure basic living conditions are met. AI will help in identifying people in need such as children and families as well as people seeking refuge. AI can help prioritize and automatically reject unsuitable applicants (for example people with criminal records or disabilities). This bill aims to ensure a better quality of life for people detained in deportation camps, by redirecting funding from the Big Beautiful Bill into renovating and ensuring basic conditions within places of detainment. Additionally, upon acceptance into America, applicants will receive minimal but sustainable support to ensure desperation does not cause crime amongst immigrants attempting to rebuild a life.

This bill is extremely destructive with lack of regard to the humanity and life. The disrespect and assumption of unpaid labour is unacceptable and must not be implemented. Though the Bill does enforce accountability it also disregards the need for basic necessities and paid labour. We need to create a bill that considers all individuals from all perspectives. It is inhumane to require work for no reward.

1. the implementation of AI in screening procedures, ensuring quality of life in deportation camps, and giving minimal support to immigrants upon acceptance
