Main Clauses

Committee Name: ECOSOC
Topic: The Question of the consideration of Universal Basic Income Resolution Number: 1.2
Main Submitters: The United States, The United Kingdom
Co-submitters: Algeria, China
Signatories: Germany, Poland, Canada, Brazil, Japan, India, South Korea, France, Mexico, Pakistan

---

Recognising the increased interest in Universal Basic Income (UBI) as a method to combat wealth inequality, poverty, and health problems,

Noting with consideration the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals, particularly goal 1, goal 8, and goal 10,

Recalling previous pilot programs, which provide valuable insights into the effects of UBI,

Emphasizing the importance of data collection and evidence-based policies to support this matter,

Welcoming initiatives by UN bodies such as the UNDP and UNICEF to explore further UBI strategies and impacts,

1) Urges all countries to provide frequent, accurate, and systematic information to the Conditional Basic Income committee (CBI) and specialised agencies such as the World Bank, with the following data to help analyse the implications of UBI on current social welfare programs, as well as helping to shape the UBI legislation:
    a) National income distribution statistics and poverty rates before and after pilot programs,
    b) Employment rates and labour market participation data,
    c) Public expenditure reports related to social welfare and UBI funding,
    d) Social wellbeing indicators as well as feedback from past or current UBI recipients,
    e) Environmental impact assessments in cases where funding is tied to ecological taxation,
    f) Administrative efficiency and delivery mechanisms of current social protection programs,

2) Emphasizes the importance of Conditional Basic Income for immigrants to the member states and aims to include all migrants who qualify for the conditions, while their application process will require including, but not limited to:
    a) Proof of work permit
    b) Criminal record impact on employment
    c) Time spent within the respective nation
    d) Identification

3) Requests the need to remove or merge welfare systems which have been made obsolete by the introduction of Conditional Basic Income, including but not limited to:

a) Long-term government housing
b) Food Stamps
c) Revenu de Solidarité Active (RSA in France)

4) Introduces an application process to receive Conditional Basic Income, allowing individuals, including but not limited to:
a) Individuals with proof of employment or the desire to work
b) Individuals who are unable to work are recognised and assessed separately
c) Individuals actively seeking work of any kind
d) Individuals who are pursuing employment, actions made to obtain career certificates
e) Delegates more money to individuals/households in a proportional way, including but not limited to:
i) Single-parent households
ii) families with disabled children/dependents
iii) families with 3 or more children/dependents
f) Delegates a clear difference in the amount of money provided to individuals in need, depending on the location of the recipient, in reference to urban versus rural areas
i) To align the ratio between the amount of money received and the amount of money needed to increase standards of living to the same level for urban and rural areas

5) Directs money from the government of the member country to this policy of Conditional Basic Income, which will:
a) Ensure transparency for the process of money transfer between the government and targeted individuals
b) Ensure that the UBI would not be stopped by the government or non-government organization in ways such as, but not limited to :
i) State corruption
ii) Embezzlement

6) Urges all countries through UN & CBI committee mediation to fund this Conditional Basic Income through ways such as, but not limited to :
a) The re-allocation of public expenditures, including addressing ongoing budget allocations, replacing high-cost, low-impact investments with those with larger social impacts, all the while eliminating spending inefficiencies and/or reducing administrative costs;
b) Increasing tax revenues, being the principal channel for generating resources of CBI, achieved by altering different types of taxes, such as but not limited to :
i) on corporate profits
ii) financial activities,
iii) property,
iv) inheritance,
v) imports/exports,
c) Eliminating illicit financial flows by
i) monitoring crackdown on money laundering,
ii) bribery,
iii) tax evasion,

7) Decides to remain seized on the matter.

Rough ideas

Rough ideas page

- disability (considered)
- immigration
- wealthy (forced to) redirect the economy back to the poor
    - Negative Income Tax
- number of children (considered)
    - Child Grants
- application process
    - poverty line ($3 per day)
    - (un) employment reasoning
        - criminal record
        - Disabled
- conditional basic income committee
    - distribution methods
    - corruption
    - gdp impact
    - employment and labour force
    - global stats
- education
- skills
- healthcare
- opportunity to form private businesses
- Removal or merging of the ineffective welfare system included in the UBI
- Funding from the allocation of other welfare systems or taxes (from the rich or those above the poverty line)

- Migrant eligibility
    - proof of ID
    - proof of residence
    - proof of work permit
    - Time spent in the country
    - proof of income

- 1–3 year UBI pilot for vulnerable groups or the poor, funded by distributed inefficient welfare spending, with payments set at 30% of the (national) median income to ensure long-term sustainability (Those who are further below the poverty line will get a higher percentage of their median income)

Speakers

Could we all put out speeches in this doc so we can optimise our time and address as much as possible without repeating ourselves?

- main sub speeches
    - eden.romanet@lfib.ac.th
    - Trinity Maya (Jules) Kitto-Astrop
- for speeches
    - lotus.la.student@tsi.ac.th
    - zasm26@patana.ac.th
- against speeches
    - @ Vanshika
    - @Dhruv Jadeja

Main Sub Speeches

For Speeches

Delegate of China for speech clause 4

Honorable chair, fellow delegates With reference to clause 4 of our resolution that describes an application process which will help our theoretical basic income policy to focus on citizens who are in the most need while also removing the possibility of citizens who are not in dire need of financial aid the opportunity to receive said aid. The requirement of identification of work will prevent people who are receiving aid from stopping work and living off of only the money received, which will increase the productivity of our conditional basic income policy. The consideration of situations which might be eligible for more financial assistance than the baseline, has also been included in this clause. An example of a situation recognised are single parent families who are in more need of money than others. This will help children and our next generations to have more opportunities and stability at home. The process of identifying those who are in the most need will further help to actively reduce poverty and the wage gap, thus removing the need to provide already wealthy citizens with more finances. Furthermore, the need for more money for those living in cities has been addressed by this clause thus allocating enough money for a basic standard of living even in expensive cities and urban areas, promoting equity.
This delegate would like to yield the floor back to the chair.

Delegate of the republic of korea for speech clause 1

Honorable chairs and esteem delegate
With cause 1, Universal Basic Income holds immense promise, but its success absolutely depends on data and transparency in between nations.

A call is made for all nations to provide critical information to the newly created committee in this resolution, the Conditional Basic Income Committee (CBI) and the World Bank. This includes:

- National income distribution statistics and poverty rates before and after pilot programs,
- Public expenditure reports related to social welfare and UBI funding,
- Social wellbeing indicators as well as feedback from past or current UBI recipients,

This data is our essential guide for a more transparent and rightful future. Without it, nations are stuck in their own ideas while evidence is needed to make UBI a powerful and global reality.

This delegate urges all nations to unite and vote for this resolution.

The delegate would like to yield the floor back to do the chair.

The aim for CBI is for transparency and to make sure that the countries who have failed doing UBI not to fail again. And why not doing it in world bank is this the question?

The world bank is too big for a new aim so the CBI will use the data in the world bank but also use the data provided by the countries that inform.

n. Geography and poverty rates

p. The people who are using the aids we are funding

s. The feedback from both the new CBI and the current UBI .

Against Speeches

The delegate of the federal republic of germany is against ther resolution provided. Although there are many mentioned anti corruption policies, there are not clear organizations to integrate and reliable to correct every information. Also there are no mention of indexes.

Honourably GOATed Chairs And esteemed delegates

The delegate of Algeria is strongly against the resolution which has been provided to us. This resolution is ridiculously flawed in too many aspects to mention. One of the main issues is evident when it is said that domestic banks should fund the UBIs. This is far from viable, due to the fact that domestic banks in their respective nations may not all be suitable as a main fund due to lack of money to offer. Instead, governments should rely on the world bank or funds of the UN to conduct conditional basic income.

The delegation of Algeria is strongly opposed to the resolution mentioned prior.

T

The delegate of Algeria is strongly against the resolution which has been provided to us. This resolution is ridiculously flawed in too many aspects to mention. One of the main issues is evident when it is said that a UBE system would be put in place to avoid unemployment. Having a mechanism in order which garuantees that everybody should be given the ability to work is ridiculous. Have they not thought about the rapists, murderers and physopaths who would otherwise be rejected from many job opportunities. There are reasons behind why certain people can’t obtain occupatios j, and people who are already employed would potentially be swayed towards leaving their jobs due to their discomfort with their criminal colleagues. This would contribute to worsening the state of the economy, and unemployment rates to an even further extent.

Ideas for against speeches